HOGHTON TOWER

LANCASHIRE

The Irishman's Tower is an idyllic rural retreat and the perfect base for exploring the richness and diversity of local Lancashire countryside, food and culture.

The Tower occupies one of the former garrisons that interrupt the ramparts at the front of Hoghton Tower and commands spectacular views of our landmark driveway and the stunning Lancashire countryside.

This two-storey, cosy historic property has been refurbished to the highest specification. All original features remain, but with a modern twist in design which will more than satisfy contemporary tastes. Facilities include a king-sized bed, shower, TV, open fire, iPod dock, internet access and welcome pack.

The Irishman's Tower is available on a self-catering basis for two adults. Please take some time to read through our Access Statement as the historic nature of Irishman's Tower means that access may be difficult for some individuals.
